The parties to this were one Cooper and one Burks. They were at deadly enmity with each other, and had inside threats, and preparations were made for the final event, which took place on Saturday. It appears, from what we can learn, that Burke had made threats against Cooper, and Cooper against Burke, ad infinitum, and that Burke followed his antagonist, to Austin, with a bowie-knife, which fact having come to bowie-knife, which fact having come to the ears of Cooper, he prepared himself with a shotgun. When Burke showed himself in Austin on Saturday, Cooper was prepared for him, and shot him on sight. Cooper is a resident of the county, near Austin. At Louisville, on Wednesday, George Slaughter, a colored cook on the steamer Sandy, tried kindling a fire with coal oil, when the can exploded, burning his face and breast very badly, though his injuries will not prove fatal. The boat had a narrow escape from destruction.

The Colorado, Captain McKee, sails this morning at 9 o'clock for Vicksburg and the bends. The Mary Miller will pass up to-day for the Ohio.
The Cheinnati Enquirer of Saturday says: "The sale of the steamer Oddity, owned in this city by Captain Wrentz, but now running in a Southern trade, was registered at the Custom-house yesterday morning. Messrs. W. B. Trainer and Joseph Gervis buy one-half, at the rate of $8750 for the whole."

rate of $8750 for the whole."

The Pine Bluif Press save as follows:

'The succession of small rises in the river during the past ten days, has kept up fair navigation for the smaller class of boats, none other being in the trade at present. The dullness in traffic hardly supports three boats a week, two to Memphis and one to St. Louis. The Dardandle and Fort Gibson make weekly tries He and Fort Gibson make weekly trips to Mamphis, forming a semi-weekly line; to Mamphis, forming a semi-weekly line; while the Sioux City connects weekly with other St. Louis boats at the mouth of the river. The wharf presents a lively appearance on Monday, Wednosday and Saturday of each week, while on the remaining days it presents the columns. maining days it presents the quiet appearance of a rural Sabbath. The fall trade will open next month when we may expect a more enlivening and business-like appearance upon our river front.
